Over the Fence....

Having said yes to an urgent plea last night for an Editor today my brain was not tuned in to the task today and there is not a lot to publish in the Fencepost this week.

Our School newsletter is only published every two weeks and this is the “off” week. Next week will be the last for the term as School Holidays begin on 1st July allowing everybody to participate in the activities for SOCK WEEK.

There was no local netball, hockey or football to report on either. It was exciting to see that our hockey players did well at Country Week. The Colts footballers also did well and we look forward to a report on that next week.

Golf is still progressing with several members excelling themselves.

The treasurers of local sporting clubs, volunteer organisations and the like, having been advised that their bank accounts may be closed this year, are all in the process of obtaining alternative arrangements. This is a sad case for the locals. Perhaps someone out there can arrange with a financial body to start a local bank here similar to the “Bendigo Bank” arrangement!!. These volunteer organisations invest a considerable amount of money in the local bank and without their funds, our local branch may have to close. This would not be ideal for the elderly in the town, or indeed the business people. — — Just a thought.

Narembeen CRC Update

Hello everyone, we hope you had a good week.

SOCK Week commences next Monday and as another year passes, we again remember those we have lost on our country roads.

The SOCK initiative was created in 2017 and aims to raise awareness, inform and educate road users as well as promote safe, legal and responsible road use.

Help us teach our youth and remind us all of the importance of road safety and join us for a week of remembrance.

Several activities will take place at the school that week and updates will be provided via our social media channels.

For SOCK resources, visit the Shire of Narembeen Website and get involved this year:

SOCK Documentary

As SOCK Week 2023 begins, we encourage you all to watch the documentary which was showcased at the Memorial Night last year - a reminder why SOCK is so important to us. The documentary is available on our YouTube channel and will also be posted on our social media channels.

Coffee Pit Stop

Support SOCK Week this year by taking a break and grabbing a coffee at The Co-Op. Each regular coffee purchase will receive a SOCK cookie and 50cents will be donated back to SOCK Week 2024.

Fluro Friday

Have you got your outfit ready for Fluro Friday? Be seen in Narembeen for our Fluro Friday event and remember that we will be walking around town to all local businesses and snapping a photo of you and your team in your best fluro gear!

Memorial

Please join us at the Rec Centre as we light a candle in memory for those who we have lost on country roads. A guest speaker will also be sharing her personal experience that changed her life forever.

Positive Driving Awards

This SOCK Week local police will be pulling over drivers and rewarding them for their good driving habits. Make sure you are doing the right thing and you might find yourself the lucky winner of a prize.

KEYS4LIFE

Is your teenager ready to learn to drive? Next week, during SOCK Week there will be an information session for parents and young drivers at the school.

Please register by contacting the school. This session is aimed at high school students and their parents, however any interested member of the community may attend.

Triple M

SOCK Week Ads will be played throughout the week, so make sure you tune in and listen to Triple M next week. THANK YOU to TRIPLE M Central Wheatbelt for donating 50 free spots!

GWN7

Keep an eye out for the SOCK poem video on GWN7.

This initiative is supported by the Road Safety Commission.

Remember the importance of road safety - Stay safe and alert when you're out on the road so you don't become another statistic added to our country road death toll.

Hello, hope everyone is well.

We received a report of large quantities of diesel fuel being stolen from a business premises on Narembeen South Road. Please report any suspicious activity to us on 131444.

SOCK Week commences on Monday 26 June and we are proud to be involved in this great community initiative to tackle road safety and change driver behaviour.

Be aware, 25% of all road fatalities involve alcohol and drugs. Being under the influence, impairs your response time of reacting to a situation and it only takes a split second to have a crash.

There is a zero blood alcohol concentration limit for both learners and P Plate drivers. Drink Driving can lead to a conviction and a criminal record and affect your employment opportunities. There are a few countries like Canada and USA which may not grant you a Visa if you have a drink driving conviction. Please do the right thing.

Stay Safe

Grain Brokers Australia Weekly Market Report

Written by Peter McMeekin on June 20, 2023

Drought doubles down on US row crop production...

Drought continues to tighten its grip across the United States Corn Belt, with several states seeing significant falls in soil moisture ratings in the latest US Drought Monitor update. Rainfall across the Midwest has been well below average for months. A stagnant, blocking, dry weather pattern has now led to the rapid expansion of drought conditions in many row cropping states, with the prospect of rain pushed out to the back end of the 15-day forecast.

Precipitation in the first half of June has been quite sporadic for the Corn Belt, with falls more concentrated west of the Mississippi River, favouring the High Plains and Southern Plains states. The first full week in June, commencing Saturday 4, was reportedly the third driest first week of June for the US Corn Belt in more than 30 years, building soil moisture deficits and crop stress.

The June 13 national drought snapshot saw the drought worsening across much of the Midwest but improving in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. A strong upper-level ridge of high pressure continues to dominate the central portions of North America. According to last week's report, moderate to exceptional drought now covers 20.9 per cent of the US, up from 18.3 per cent the prior week. However, the agricultural areas are particularly hard hit.

Drought now covers 57 per cent of the corn area, up from 45 per cent a week earlier and 17 per cent in the same week last year. The soybean story is similar, with 51 per cent now drought-affected, up from 39 per cent last week and just 9 per cent a year prior. The sorghum picture has improved marginally, with the drought-declared area down two percentage points week-on-week to 64 per cent, much better than the 77 per cent at the same time in 2022.

The weekly crop progress report released by the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) on June 12 showed a further deterioration in the national subsoil moisture rating. NASS reported that 47 per cent of the nation's cropland had a subsoil moisture rating of short-to-very short, compared to 44 per cent a week earlier and 28 per cent at the same time last year. It was the worst rating since NASS began reporting national soil moisture conditions in 2014 and is nearly double the seasonal average of 24 per cent for early June: quite problematic for the emergence of later sown crops.

The national crop ratings were slightly lower week-on-week but are yet to truly reflect the hot, dry weather and rapidly declining soil moisture reserves in key production regions. The corn crop was rated 61 per cent good-to-excellent, down from 64 per cent the previous week, 72 per cent a year earlier and the long-term average of 70 per cent.

In Illinois, traditionally the second biggest corn-producing state, the short-to-very short subsoil rated area rose from 60 per cent on June 5 to 68 per cent on June 12. This is up from 9 per cent in the same week a year ago and the long-term average of 13 per cent. Severe drought now encompasses almost 15 per cent of the state. The crop is hanging on for dear life, with the good-to-excellent rated area dropping just two percentage points across the week to 48 per cent. But widespread soaking rains are needed before month end to avoid a catastrophe.

Iowa is the nation's biggest corn-producing state, and the picture is not much better, with just over 14 per cent of the state enduring severe drought conditions. The subsoil moisture conditions did improve slightly from 53 per cent short-to-very short on June 5 to 59 per cent a week later. The good-to-excellent rated area dropped from 72 per cent to 70 per cent over the same week. Corn is a tenacious plant, and yield potential can be maintained for a certain period when under stress, but the yield potential cliff face is fast approaching with every rainless day.

The first national soybean ratings for the season were released last week, coming in at 59 per cent good-to-excellent, a downward revision of 2 percentage points week-on-week. The crop ratings for the biggest producing state, Illinois, came in at 47 per cent good-to-excellent last week compared to 51 per cent on June 5. Iowa is the number two producer, and crop rating there fell from 70 per cent to 66 per cent over the same period. While the critical yield determining period for soybeans is still as much as six weeks away in most regions, high temperatures combined with sustained periods of moisture stress when the plants are young are still detrimental to the final yield.

While the corn and soybeans planting program is winding up, the sorghum planting program is still in full swing. As of last week, 64 per cent of the forecast area had been sown, compared to the five-year average of 68 per cent. The already emerged crops were rated 57 per cent good-to-excellent last week, up from 47 per cent on June 12, 2022. Kansas is the big swinger in sorghum, producing almost two-thirds of national production. The state's crop was rated 57 per cent good-to-excellent, up slightly from 55 per cent a year earlier.

With the winter wheat harvest now underway in the southern states, exactly half the planted area is experiencing drought, up from 47 per cent last week and 45 per cent last year. The recent rains came far too late to positively impact production, although quality has reportedly suffered in some regions. The spring wheat, durum wheat and barley crops are faring much better at four per cent, two per cent, and 11 per cent drought declared, respectively. These are all very similar to the previous week's ratings but significantly better than at the same time in 2022.

The corn market has its eyes planted firmly on the weather forecasts at the moment as crunch time approaches. Early pollination will commence in the first week of July, and optimum yields, which the USDA is currently forecasting, require adequate soil moisture in the week before and the three weeks after tasselling.

While forecasts show a possibility of rain in early July, substantial and sustained falls are required to salvage average production potential in many regions. Evapotranspiration will currently be around four millimetres per day, rising to as much as six millimetres per day at tasselling, the peak seasonal water demand period. In extreme situations such as high wind speed, high temperatures, low relative humidity, and adequate soil moisture, the evapotranspiration rate can be as high as 10 millimetres per day. But soil moisture deficits of at least 100-150 millimetres are projected for eastern Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and western Indiana by June 30.

Weather maps suggest the US is about to enter the hottest month of the summer, with sizeable soil moisture deficits across much of the Corn Belt. This does not bode well for the USDA's current corn yield projection of a record 181.5 bushels per acre, or even matching the current record of 176.7 bushels per acre. Some in the trade are already talking low 170s, and the market reaction was evident late last week with US corn futures bid up strongly. Interestingly, murmurs of corn production issues in China, the world's second biggest producer and biggest importer, stoked Dalian corn futures to a one-month high last week as domestic consumers also get concerned about 2023/24 supply.

Country Stargazing

with Carol Redford and Donna Vanzetti, Astrotourism WA
Dance of the Planets

Just as our daylight skies are ever-changing, with new sunsets and shifting cloud formations, our evening skies are constantly changing too, as the planets of our solar system appear to move across the sky throughout the year. The word planet means “wanderer”, given by the ancient Greeks who studied the night sky and began to understand their orbits.

From our perspective here on Earth, as the planets continue their never-ending ‘waltz’ around the Sun, their orbits can sometimes bring the planets together to form incredible conjunctions or ‘Planet Parties’.

Across the month of July, stargazers will be treated to a sunset display as Mars, Venus and Mercury take centre stage. Starting on the 10th, Mars will appear right next to the bright star Regulus and Venus! Keen eyed observers may also spot the ISS passing by this triplet of lights around 6pm. Watch Mars drift away from Regulus and Mercury and take centre stage throughout the month, culminating in Mercury making a very close approach to Regulus on the 29th. Even the Moon will join the party, making a close approach on the 20th and 21st!

When to look: Earlier in the month, watch from sunset to 7.30pm, by the end of July, this event can only be seen from 6.00pm to 6.30pm.

Which direction to look: West north-west, very low to the horizon.

They will continue their beautiful dance throughout July, and this will culminate with another special grouping on the 20th and 21st, when the stunning thin slither of the Moon joins the party to form a striking nightscape with Mars and Venus.

Enjoy the cosmic views stargazers.

BEHIND THE GOALS

WOMEN'S COUNTRY WEEK

Friday the 16th June saw eight Narembeen women, plus the illustrious Trevor Sprigg (Master's Manager), head down to Perth for the annual CBH Country Championships representing Eastern Districts Hockey Association (EDHA). What a weekend it was!

Felicity Cowan, Gina Cheetham, Caroline Robinson, Carissa Wanless, Hannah Kerse and Natalie Browning (Coach) all represented Narembeen in the Master's Division 1 side. While the Master's only won one game, all of their losses were extremely close and they showed great determination. This years Master's team was led by Natalie Browning who has a wealth of hockey knowledge. I'm thinking there may be some sore "older" bodies this week after a hard fought three days of hockey!

Cloé Moriau and Georgia Miller both represented Narembeen in the top EDHA side (Division 2). The girls finished top of their pool, and won their cross-over match. This resulted in a Grand Final appearance against the Pilbara Crocs...and what a game it was. The game was neck and neck right up until about 5 minutes into the second quarter when Jo Muntz scored a penalty stroke that our very own Georgia Miller was awarded after a lengthy run down field with stick on ball.

It wasn't long however until the Crocs managed a fast break and scored the equalising goal...making it 1-1 at full time. This meant it was time for penalty shoot outs. For those who aren't familiar with shoot outs it's pretty self-explanatory, one player has 8 seconds to score a goal from the attacking 23 line. Each team nominates five players to have a shoot out against the goalie. EDHA's fab 5 included both Narem girls (Georgia and Cloé) as well as Jo Muntz, Lauren Cope and Courtney Hall. After a bit of confusion from officials EDHA were crowned Champions winning the shoot outs 3-1, meaning Courtney Hall didn't have to take her shoot out. An awesome achievement by Div 2, and my word did the crowd let the girls know how proud they were! Big shout-out to Georgia Miller who played the majority of the tournament with her thumb fractured in two places!!! Clearly made tough in the "Been!

Last year our Master's were premiers, this year our Div 2 girls are premiers. We are certainly lucky to be apart of such a strong association that embraces great culture and a high standard of hockey!

Best of luck to the EDHA Men who have their Country Week this coming weekend!

NAREMBEEN GOLF CLUB

It has been a busy around the course this week. The cups have been shifted and the greens finished off. With the rain the course is looking magnifico and has been mowed. Bring on the golf.

Brayden McCubbing was at the clubhouse on Sunday morning for Coaching. How lucky we are to have this coaching available to the Members. 14 Members took advantage of the coaching and looking at the scores from some of the men who had lessons, Brayden certainly put them on the right track. We will have to wait until Wednesday to see if the Ladies results are as good.

Now to the scores for the week.

On Wednesday 12 Ladies played stableford for Maxine Miolini's trophy. Another Wednesday birthday, this time Maree Sprigg, and yes you guessed it Maree won the day with 35 points. These new golfers are certainly starting to get a hang of the game coming through with great scores and breaking their handicaps, even if they are a year older. We "older" players are still saying "well done" - at this stage - but when you start to get outdriven and not a chance of winning a trophy, things might have to start to get a bit nasty. Runner up was Sheree Thomas with 34 points. Good scores went to Darien Pascoe and Anita Cowan with 30 points.

Nearest the pin on number 2 and longest putt on number 16 both went to Julie Miller.

Our birthday cake guru, Kellie Mortimore, was busy Wednesday morning putting together a delicious birthday cake for Maree. Thanks Kellie.

On Thursday 6 ladies travelled to Kulin for their 4BBB. No trophies or raffles came home. Kellie Mortimore and Maxine Miolini won the money off the other 4 Narembreen girls playing - nearly better than a trophy. Julie Miller blew out a calfie on the day, so if you happen to see her hobbling around, a bit of sympathy would not go astray - reality hits when we start doing calfies at golf.

On Sunday following the coaching, 19 men hit off for an afternoon of stableford playing for Brendan Parsons trophy. The winner of the day was the young fella - Mick Toovey with a whopping 43 points (no coaching here, you can't teach an old dog new tricks, hey Mick) The runner up after a coaching lesson and again, a very good score was Sam Bald with 42 points.(hmm looks like "the oldies" might be having the same issues with the new golfers in the mens comp as well.)

The next three best scores were coach assisted with Ben Hunter having 38 points, Mitch Miolini and Bevan Thomas both 37 points. Well done Brayden!! Other good scores were Mike Currie with 35 points and Tim Cusack 34 points.

This reporter forgot to get the pinnie results, but trust me they were out there.

The ladies had a small field of 5 also playing stableford. The men obviously found the course a little easier than the ladies, but once again it was one of our new golfers Kyla Padfield taking home the golf balls with 34 points and runner up was Carol Currie with 33 points.

Brayden McCubbing will be coming back to the Club on Sunday 23rd of July. Judging by the results from above he will be booked out. Please let Noela Cole or Aaron Lyon know if you are interested in having a lesson

This Wednesday is stroke for the Ladies playing for Kyla Padfields trophy (that's one new golfer who can't beat us for the trophy!!). On Thursday 4 ladies will be going to Harrismith for a 4BBB day. Good Luck. The following Wednesday is the foursome championships over 30 holes so get your partners sorted. On Sunday the men will play their 3rd qualifying stroke round for Marty Farrells trophy.

Dates to remember –

Friday 14th July – Ladies Open Day - 4BBB- sponsored by The Deluis Family

Saturday 15th July – Mens BC Cusack Cup – individual stableford – sponsored by The Cusack Family

Mt Walker Golf News

Sunday 18th June 23

Last weekend there was no golfers who were willing to brave the conditions, but this week, was a different story.

The boys were busy during the week doing some course maintenance.

Thanks to Joe, Bevan & Darren, the course is looking fantastic.

The winner of the day on a countback was Merle Phillips with 34 points 2nd Bevan Eyles 34 points & 3rd Carol Fagan with 33 points.

Novelties winners

NP #7 Carol Fagan,

NP#11 Darren Phillips

LHO #17 Wendy Wilson

Next weeks advertised game will be just a normal sweepstakes

Up and coming is our annual cup day 6th August so keep eyes peeled for more details.
